Excuse me, hello there, we are community enforcement officers, I'll show you my identification. Earlier on you were walking there and threw away a brown paper bag. That's actually a littering offence. We'll just let you know you're being recorded on camera via my body cam at the moment, we enforce lightning offences and dog failing offences. So that's all I think offence and the reason it's a littering offence is see when you threw away, you walked away from it in your left it, you understand that okay. Okay, do understand that as an offence has been committed, it's a littering offence. I means I'll issue with a fixed penalty notice. Okay, my colleague is going to get some details on to our handheld device. Issue with a fixed penalty, then I explained to you what will happen with it, okay. So can I have your name and address please.

01:00

But what authority do you have to get her name and address?

Speaker 1 01:04

At the moment sir what we're dealing with as a littering offence is covered by the Environmental Protection Act of 1990. Within that it was actually a separate offence of failing to provide your name and address when required to do so. Because we went as the offence, we are actually requiring you to provide your name and address as a separate offence if you don't provide it to us. Now, at the moment, the fixed penalty notice as far littering, that can be dealt with by way of the fixed penalty. If you refuse to provide your name and addresss, that's a separate issue. It can be a case report to the procurator fiscal. And at the moment, we would need to call Police Scotland. Now for a littering offence, do we really want to escalate it to calling Police Scotland down here?

Speaker 2 01:42

I don't want that to happen.

 Speaker 1 01:44
So is that your daughter?

 Speaker 2 01:45
Yeah,

 Speaker 1 01:45
it's okay for her to provide a name and address?

 Speaker 2 01:47
Just provide your details.

 Speaker 1 01:48
you have any identification on militating identification just to speed the process up. Okay. We'll just get your details off that will get put into the machine. I'll ask you your date of birth and your address once the details have been put in, we'll print off the fixed penalty notice. Then I'll explain everything to you after that, okay.

 02:13
Key with regards to the fixed penalty, notice all the details and the back tell you how to appeal to notice. Okay. Once the notice is paid as your liability discharged and the matters closed on it. Â£80 is quite a lot of money. It can be paid in instalments. There's any independent of one go you need to make contact with the number on the back of that ticket. Okay? You understand all that okay. Anything you want to ask me before we can put you can pick it up and delete it. If you picked it up, however, see the fact that you threw it away and walked away from it. That's the offence, see the minute you walk away. Once the offence has been completed, we end with a fixed bill. Thank you
